To whom it may concern,

After a time-consuming, costly, and aggravating failed attempt to implement another vendor's system, Peakview Asset Management switched to MIMICS. Since then, we couldn't be more pleased with the results.

From the start, the team of professionals at MIMICS bent over backwards, customizing their system to handle Peakview's unique operations – and throughout the process MIMICS proved to be an honest and fair partner, which is especially refreshing in this day and age.

Best of all, the MIMICS system has increased Peakview's overall efficiency, and will support future growth without the need for expensive upgrades.

Thank you MIMICS,

Bryan F. Bullock
